Course Objective:

The course aims to help students to understand the importance of reviewing research literature for the purpose of a research study. It also intends to enable students to identify relevant literature and its bibliometric qualities with the help of indexing databases and special search engines. It will also help students to carry out different methods of literature review like systematic and scoping reviews for a study. The course also will help the students to get a hand-on experience of how to structure the results from a review to identify and establish the existence of research gaps.

Course Outcomes:

On completion of the course, the students will be able to:

- Understand the basic concepts of reviewing literature for a research study
- Differentiate between systematic literature review and scoping reviews
- Develop a theoretical discussion by critically analyzing the literature reviewed
- Able to produce diagrams to elucidate the process and outcomes of a review

Attendance Requirements:

Students are expected to attend all lectures in order to be able to fully benefit from the course. A minimum of 75% attendance is a must failing which a student may not be permitted to appear in examination.

Evaluation Criteria:

1. Mid Term Examination:20%

2. End Term Examination:60%
3. Continuous Internal Assessment: 20%

Course Contents:

- UNIT 1- Introduction to Literature Review (8 hours)
The idea of research
Incremental nature of scientific research
The practice of literature review
History of the development of the practice
Some trends
- Unit 2- Identifying sources (8 hours)
Different kinds of sources
Identifying quality sources
Grey-literature
Using indexes and repositories
Identifying predatory sources
- Unit-3 Types of Literature Reviews (8 hours)
Scoping review
Systematic Review
Meta-Analysis
Thematic Review
- UNIT 4- Techniques of literature review (8 hours)
Effective search strategies
Use of Keywords
Use of citation data to expand the literature base
Identifying impactful literature
Developing a literature matrix
Taking notes and developing a coding system
- UNIT 5- Presenting the literature Review (8 hours)
Literature Review as a thesis chapter and other formats
Synthesis in literature Review
Establishing the research gaps
Developing the theoretical base
Identifying and supporting the research questions
Bibliometric analysis as a supplementary synthesis for literature reviews

Course Name: Practicum (Audience Research for Media)

Course Code: JCW 480

Level: 4

Credits: 4

Credits Equivalent: 4 Credits (One credit is equivalent to 10 hours of lectures / organised classroom activity / contact hours; 5 hours of laboratory work / practical / field work / Tutorial / teacher-led activity and 15 hours of other workload such as independent individual/ group work; obligatory/optional work placement; literature survey/ library work; data collection/ field work; writing of papers/ projects/dissertation/thesis; seminars, etc.)

Course Objectives: The course is designed

- To enable students to develop the skills needed for conducting original media audience research
- To develop basic skills to handle a web analytics application to understand web audience and make editorial decisions

Course Outcomes:

After the successful completion of the course, the student will be able to:

- Ideate and develop an audience analysis plan for a media organization
- set-up, collect, analyse and generate insights for a web asset (website or app) using Google Analytics
- conduct focus groups and analyse qualitative data to understand audience perceptions

Attendance Requirement:

A minimum of 75% attendance is a must failing which a student may not be permitted to appear in examination.

Evaluation Criteria:

1. Final Product: 40%
2. Project Report: 20%
3. Continuous Internal Assessment: 20%
4. Viva-voce & Project Presentation: 20%

Evaluation of the final product should be done by the faculty offering the course and the external expert.

Student should submit a sampling framework which can be used for conducting audience research using interviews/surveys in a locality picked by the student

Submission of an analysis of the audience data collected through interviews/focus groups or surveys. In all cases, the instrument used for collecting data should also be submitted.

OR

Students may also develop innovative audience study techniques like smartphone-based diary methods to study user experience with interfaces, etc.

Students should complete Google Analytics Individual certification before completion of the course

OR

Students should submit a report on the performance of the content of the class blog or any other web publication using the audience data sourced from the Google Analytics dashboard

Any other activity with a tangible output (a write-up, data analysis report, etc), as assigned by the faculty

Other general guidelines:

Final project report: Report should describe the steps of the learning process the student was involved in, learning outcomes experienced by the student, innovative approaches if any.

Presentation – Presentation should visually and concisely convey his/her workflow used in the practical, outcomes, examples (like a published story) and what he/she learned.

Innovative approaches should be encouraged.

Students should keep a diary/journal about the consultations made with the faculty during the course with details of the meetings and assigned activities.
